Middle School Literacy Centers. By Rhonda Stewart. Grades 3-5, 6-8. When I think of learning centers in a classroom, I tend to think of younger students: Pre-K to about second grade. Children busy with activities — e.g. a music center filled with instruments, or a science center that has a focus on the life cycle of a butterfly.

Literacy centers for secondary grades are not just revamped elementary-school centers (Prevatte, 2007). Activities have to be relevant and purposeful. Literacy centers can be used in a variety of ways, one of which is to motivate students to read and write, provide them with relevant materials, and also stimulate comprehension development.

Literacy Centers That Work - Learning at the Primary Pond

3) Most centers are open-ended, so students can take it as far as they'd like. 4) Since there are two options provided per center, each one can be completed twice. 5) Centers need to be changed every 3-4 WEEKS as opposed to every 1-2 weeks! This is my favorite part of this system because it makes teacher management a snap.
